School Marks its Week

Catholic Schools Week, currently being observed in the Rochester Diocese, will end Friday at St. Mary's School.

From 1 to 2 p.m. today, the local parochial school will hold its annual students' Grandparents Day with grandparents invited to attend.

Friday has been designated "dress-up day" for students. A Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. in St. Mary's Church and at 1:30 p.m., students will conduct their annual balloon launching program in the church parking lot.

The Catholic Schools Week, with the theme, "Share the Spirit," opened Sunday with a breakfast served following each Mass. From 10 a.m. to noon, an open house was conducted in both the school and its annex for parents of students from pre-kindergarten to eighth grade.

There was no school Monday and on Tuesday, the St. Mary's School faculty conducted its annual Cookie Share program with faculty members in the Dansville Central School District. St. Mary's students participated in a "Tie Day." Boys and girls were allowed to wear neck ties of their choice whether fancy, funny or colorful.

In the school hall on Wednesday, a picnic was held starting at 6 p.m. That program was followed by a Classroom Open House from 7 to 9 p.m.

Officials Explain EPIC Plan

While the Elderly Pharmaceutical Insurance Coverage Program (EPIC) became effective last Oct. 1, it has not gained widespread popularity in this area.

According to the Livingston County Office for the Aging, many eligible people have not enrolled in the program because of "myths and misconceptions." The program offers two types of coverage based on income levels ranging from as low as $5,000 to as much as $20,000 per year.

Contrary to some statements, officials explain, there is no large start-up costs. There is an annual fee for some people which is paid quarterly and never exceeds $19. An EPIC card is issued and when presented to a pharmacist when purchasing prescription medicines, the co-payment amount ranges from $3.00 to never more than $15 per prescription.

Assistance in applying for the program is available at the Office for the Aging in Mt. Morris. Information is also available by phoning Dansville 335-2190; Avon, 228-6380; Livonia, 346-6210 or Mt. Morris, 658-4530.

Fine Motorists In Town Court

Fines and surcharges totaling $335 were levied on six motorists during a session of court Thursday before North Dansville Town Justice John J. Weidman. Pleading guilty to charges and each assessed $10 surcharges were:

Penelope J. Bangis, 45, Hornell, unlawful passing, $40; Jeffrey L. Conley, 20, of E. Amherst, no inspection, $25; Vanessa Veck, 25, Rochester, $45; Yi Min Liu, 31, Kensington, Md., speeding, $100; James P. Connery, 26, Rochester, no inspection, $25; and Paul E. Richardson, 52, Ansonia, Conn., speeding, $40.

Pleading guilty to a charge of petit larceny, Tamara J. Wise, 27, of Nunda, was sentenced to 30 days in the Livingston County Jail and placed on three years probation.

Oswego Salutes Dansville Students

Bonnie Brennessel of Livingston Blvd. and Christopher Kershner Dansville, RD 4, have been named to the President's List for the fall semester at Oswego State University College.

To be listed on the roll of academic achievement, students must have a semester grade average of 3.6 or higher on a scale of 4.0.
